Why Sourcewell?

Secure the KOHLER power equipment needed without facing the frustrations and potential issues involved with vendor selection or an RFP process.

What is Sourcewell? →

Sourcewell is a member-focused public cooperative of more than 50,000-member agencies throughout the United States. It is a municipal contracting agency that operates as a public entity. All of Sourcewell's staff are public employees, just like the members who participate in the program. Sourcewell memberships are free and they offer the opportunity for cost savings on equipment and technology. Procuring through Sourcewell allows for the elimination of often required RFP processes.

How is it Funded? →

Sourcewell is supported by the vendors providing products and services to members. Because vendors have the potential to secure multiple contracts and thousands of sale opportunities through one purchasing contract solution, the value of working with Sourcewell is evident. Vendors pay an administrative fee to Sourcewell based upon a percentage of sales processed through the competitive solicitations process. Those fees cover the costs of contract marketing and facilitation, as well as offsetting the operational costs incurred. Sourcewell is self-funded and receives no state or federal support.

Who is Eligible? →

Sourcewell membership is available to any government agency, education institution, tribal entity or nonprofit organization. Any organization that falls into one of these categories is eligible for membership. There is no cost associated with Sourcewell and your organization faces no obligation or liability upon joining. Sourcewell's contract purchasing program is available to organizations within nonprofit, education and government services sectors with no minimum contract purchasing requirements or commitments. Sourcewell membership offers the potential for cost savings and stress-free procurement of new equipment.
